Tracey Elledge and Judy Sigmon share secrets at a Lenoir-Rhyne football game.

Catching a breath of fresh air between classes are Trish Furr and Charles Whitley.

The Theta Chi House is always a good place to make friends. Dale Brill and Mary Crawford take advantages of the social atmosphere.

Sitting outside the Cromer Center, Carla Carter and Kenneth Harmon engage in friendly conversation.

Students in Price Village make the most of beautiful afternoons by lying in the sun.

Basketball players spend a lot of time together on and off the court.

During the spring, Mauney-Shaeffer residents play frisbee on the Cromer Center lawn.

Punky Marlow and Mary Safrit are engrossed in an intramural football game.

Amidst the beautiful scenery, a walk around campus can be very relaxing.

Ken Benzmiller, Scott Howarth, Anne Helms, and Chuck Bussy take time out of their busy schedules for a little fun.

Friends can always have fun together.

family

Parent's Weekend brought many families to our campus. Students, Pete Killam, Cindy Clemons, and Stacie Willis are pictured with Mr. and Mrs. Killam.

The play, "Tales from the Brothers Grimm," attracted area residents of all ages. The play was performed by the L-R Playmakers in the quad.

Residence Life shares a family spirit, too. Resident Assistants Kathy Barron, Mike Shackelford, Michele Stanley, Mike Wheless, and Cindy Clemons were a part of the group that attended Camp Agape for training.

Dean of Students, Ed Lewis, attends an outdoor concert with his family.

school spirit

Cheerleaders, Jill Scroggs and Jeff Harris show their school spirit at each game.

Soccer games draw a diverse crowd. These youngsters are amazed at the team's activities.

Honeybears sell programs to show their school spirit. Sharon Howard displays a 1985 program.

Joe Bear waves to the fans during a game. Joe helps the cheerleaders boost the school spirit.

Soccer fans turned out in great number this season. Many brought blankets and coolers out to the field to watch an up-and-coming sport on campus.

The football crowd shows its enthusiasm at the games. Despite the outcome, L-R always supports the Bears.

Heidi Ernst studies in between classes in the Cromer Center.

Carol Anthony finds the dorm a good place to study. She is curled up with her comfortable clothes on and with her pencil in hand.

Drill sessions are a requirement for foreign language students. Some instructors choose to conduct their drills outside during warm weather.

Playmaker Pam Martin practices make-up techniques in a theatre class.

Jerry Lamonds uses some of his aquired leadership skills during an organization meeting.

Cindy Allen lends a helping hand to a friend during class.

study breaks

With a few minutes to spare, Julie Cane and Hugh Palmer relax before class.

Catching up on the latest gossip are former students Ellen Snyder, Tom Paris, and Bruce Ikard. Senior Vanessa Kelly is giving them the complete details.

Cindy Jones takes time out to visit with a familiar face.

After a long hard day of studying, students go back to the dorm to relax.

Attending a soccer game is much more fun than studying. Bill Campbell, Pete Killam, Judy Bowles, and Joe Friday share each other's company before the game begins.

Stephanie Glasee and Lynn Anderson take the afternoon off and join in an intramural football game. Intramurals are a good excuse for avoiding studies.

CATCH THE FEVER!

SPRING FLING '85

Shouts of laughter echoed from the stadium as the campus sprang to life during Spring Fling '85. The afternoon began with the sound of the top 40 band "STA Express." Later the pace quickened as "Centurion" shattered the air with its own brand of heavy metal. Amidst the frisbees and footballs, there was a melange of festivities. For the sun-worshippers the day was a golden opportunity to show off that season tan; others took a much needed break from the books and enjoyed a little rest and relaxation. By late afternoon everyone was hungry and enjoyed a cookout on the Cromer Center lawn. The day ended as everyone lounged around on the lawn and relaxed while "Gaston" provided the evening's entertainment. As the sun began to set and the crowd dispersed, the spirit of Spring Fling '85 still lingered in the air of our campus.

Centurion rocked LR into late afternoon. Meanwhile, enthusiastic fans relaxed, sipped on drinks and basked in the sun.

Hugs and smiles filled the football field and stadium. Seated here is Chuck Auten, Penny Manlove, and Chuck Bussey.

Flying high, with a little help from her friends, Laura Littrell springs into the air.

Steaming bodies lay on a mirage of blankets as our season's tans got started. For many this was the first day to break out the old bathing suits.

Hugs and grins come from Carol Anthony and Jackie Fraley. Spring Fling is a great time to take a break and have a good time.

Cheerleading tryouts? No, it's Sandy Friday, Jill Scroggs, LuAnn Hobson, and Audrey Duda showing off their LR spirit.

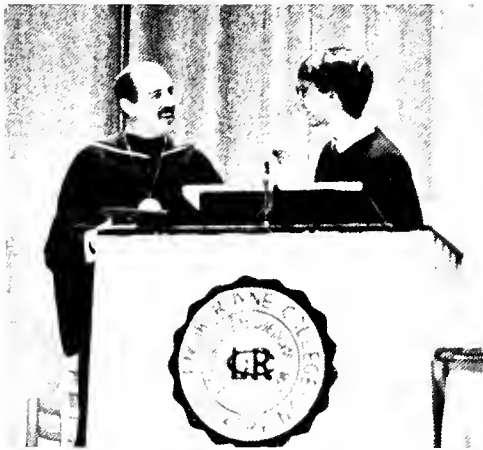

Sunglasses, bronzed bodies, and big smiles say it all for these guys. Present are Darryl Hughes, Brian Brown, Chris Poole, Jerry Livingston, John Garrett, and Chris Yeatts.

Bird's Eye view of the late afternoon as students listen to Centurion and relax from all the excitement of the day.

THE END OF THE BEGINNING

At the podium, President John Trainer awards student body president, Luther Faggart, with a plaque for the work he did that past year.

In cap and gown, senior Elisa Jones talks with Sandra Hubbard a fellow classmate and graduate.

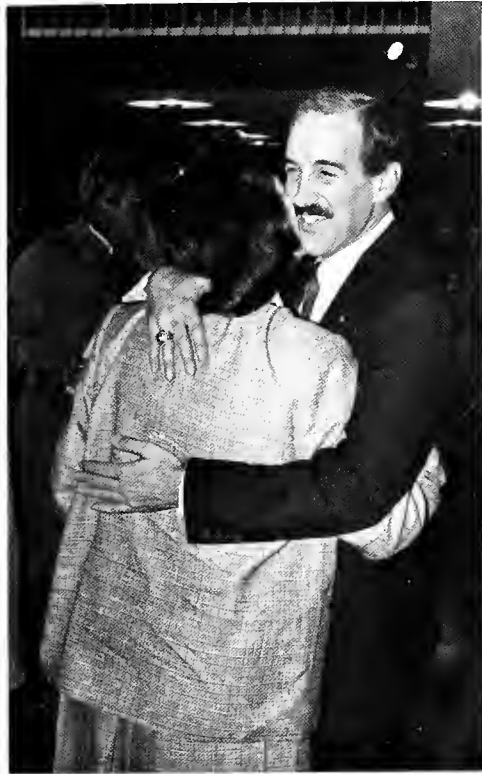

With his cute little buddy in arms, Bruce Ikard celebrates his graduation with family and friends.

GRADUATION — HONOR'S CONVOCATION

A sea of faces stare seriously as the 1985 graduating class comes to the end of another step in their lives.

A hug from President John Trainer is given to his wife on graduation day. This was President Trainer's first graduation ceremony at LR.

At times we thought the 8:00 am classes and the mid-term exams would never end. Now it's graduation day and they're all over.

Many of us have wished for this day only to be in tears now that it's here.

It seems like only yesterday that we were saying, "How am I ever going to fit in?" and "Mom, I want to come home." For most of us, it's been four short years since we arrived at Lenoir-Rhyne.

We've all come through this thing called the college experience and we've become a family. We've shared parties, studies, tears, and laughter. We've seen tragedy, celebrations, failure, and success.

As we sit in this gym, we look around ... there's the professor who gave me a shoulder to cry on when I went through my first college romance. There's the resident assistant who nursed me through my first morning after, and there is my best friend. We've been through everything imaginable and we've come out stronger.

Though, for many of us, this will be the last time we'll see each other, we'll always have the memories. We'll take with us all we've learned, in and out of the classroom. We'll go our separate ways holding tight to the memories of what people tell us are the best years of our lives. And that, is a Bear Necessity.

Accepting an award from President Trainer for being the top graduates of LR with 4.0 GPAs is Sherryan Yarbrough, Shirley Anthony, and Loretta Beam.

Looking down upon St. Andrew's sanctuary, we see the nursing department's special ceremony for their graduating seniors. The nursing department of LR is one of the few nursing schools who still hold religious ritual services.

Accepting and honorary doctorate from LR is Russel E. "Bud" Brown, economics. Presenting the award is President John Trainer and David Hoyle, Chairman of the Board of Lenoir-Rhyne College.

Kathy Piercy, Judy Bowles, Audrey Duda, Jane Jenkins, Linda Vanderford, Jennifer Thompson, Bill McBrayer, Tim Workmister, Kathy Wetzel, and Kenneth Harmon sit at a sidewalk cafe in Vienna, Austria.

Lynn Hayes and Molly Agner pose with London punks.

On July 9, 1985, nine Lenoir-Rhyne students and one faculty member left Newark Airport for three weeks in Europe. None of us students had ever traveled abroad, much less traveled with backpacks rather than suitcases. We left the States hoping to see great palaces, walk through beautiful cities, meet interesting people, and experience those things we had learned about in school. We weren't disappointed.

We strolled through Hyde Park, saw Britain's Royal Family, climbed to the top of St. Paul's Cathedral, wandered through Westminster Abbey, and toured London in double-decker buses. In France, we saw the "city of lights" (Paris), sun-bathed on the Riviera, and were awed by Versailles. As with all trips, we were rained on. So in Venice, we took refuge in St. Mark's Basilica. Austria proved to be one of the prettiest countries we saw. The cities which we visited there, Vienna and Salzburg, hosted the friendliest people and most gorgeous countryside. A sobering moment in the trip was our visit to Dachau, the first concentration camp, in Germany. However, Germany also boasts many unique things. At the Heidelberg Youth Hostel, we saw how different American youth are from European youth, even to their style of dancing. From Heidelberg, we took a train to Amsterdam, the city where everything goes!

Our European vacation holds different memories for each of us. But we are all more appreciative of what we have here in the U.S. The desire and knowledge of traveling has been instilled in all of us and any are already planning their next trip overseas. (Submitted by J. Bowles)

Dr. Jane Jenkins went along with the back-packers. She is pictured here in her "famous" hat.

Linda Vanderford, Judy Bowles, and Audrey Duda clown around in front of this huge poster. "Ghostbusters" was playing in Europe, too.

STARTING OVER

PROLOGUE

It is a rainy day in August but there is anticipation and eagerness in the air. The Freshmen are coming.

Parents, prologue leaders and peers all work together to fill the freshmen dorms, Isenhour and Morgan, with clothes, linens, posters, stereos, refrigerators, food, drink, t.v.'s and most important — people.

Prologue is a program to orientate the freshman and transfer students to the new world that Lenoir-Rhyne provides. Not only does it benefit the students with the knowledge of where things are located on campus, but it gives them a chance to meet new people, make new friends, and experience new independence.

One activity of the week is the ropes course, used to build confidence in yourself and in the other members of your prologue group. Another event is the scavenger hunt, sending everyone on their feet to collect signatures of prologue leaders in designated areas of the campus. Finally there is the visit to the home of President Trainer to meet our (copy continued on pg. 25)

Looking cool and suave are Connie Shoberg, Tim Ludwig, and Gina Mayes, prologue leaders for 1985. The fifties was the theme for Prologue.

Huddled up and hugging each other is one of the prologue groups at the ropes course. The ropes course is located behind Price Village.

Balancing on a beam isn't so easy when the beam isn't firmly attached. Here a freshman tries his ability at this maneuver.

Doing a balancing act are six freshmen, Barbara Sloan, John Smith, Johnathan Martin, Craig Thornburg, Sherry Smith, and Brian Spangler.

The shiny chrome and sun glasses helped show off the fifties spirit for these Prologue leaders. Jean Robertson, Allen Deal, Barbara Best, Ken Benzmiller and Jeff Miller.

Don Hayes, President Trainer, J.C. Epting and David Ludwig show their singing talents for the prologue crowds.

The ropes course was one of the last activities of Prologue.

BEGINNING THE CLIMB UPWARD

Laying precariously on top of a pole, are two LR freshmen. Rich Duncan, in background, led the ropes course activities.

Freshmen didn't know what to expect from one course to the next.

Please don't let me fall! I trust you. Barbara Best's prologue group worked here to develop trust in each other.

One aspect of the ropes course is to get each person over this high wall.

Climb up, climb down, but how do you get off of this? Dawn James tries her best on this tricky ladder.

new "father figure" of our family at school. A pizza party is planned at the lake and everyone enjoys food, fun, and freedom. The freshman dance is an exciting event because it is a chance to enjoy yourself and just have a good time.

Prologue is a necessary part of the beginning of college for all freshmen and transfers. It provides answers, entertainment, and understanding, all of which are needed for the next class of Lenoir-Rhyne.

Down on his hands and knees is Dean Ed Lewis playing his part in this prologue skit. Also acting are President Trainer and several prologue leaders.

Standing on pegs is Sheryl Melchor and her prologue group. They had to walk around the circle of pegs moving together.

Pushed up to the high beam is this freshman girl. Many hands brace her feet and ankles as they push her up.

THE BEST OF TWO WORLDS

PARENTS WEEKEND

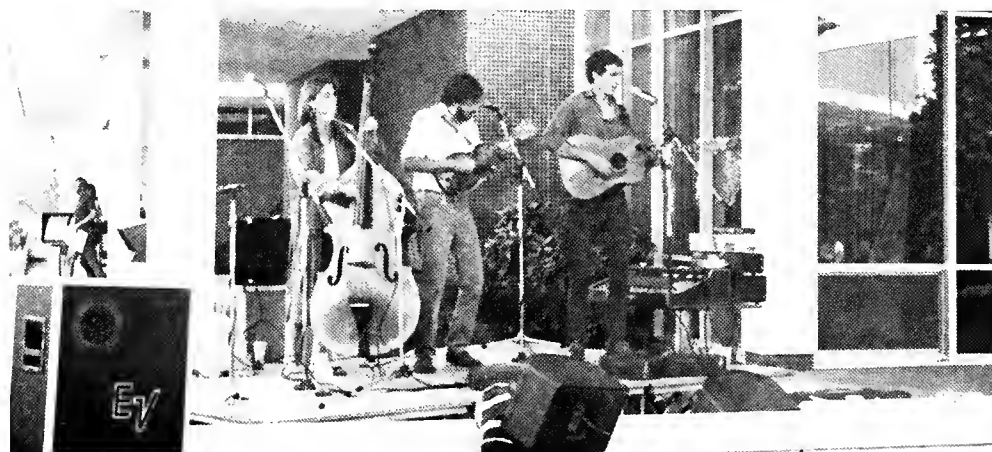

Vacuum the floor! Dust the furniture! Make the beds! Clean the bathroom! Straighten the closets! The parents are coming!

Yes, the day has arrived. You've prepared for them and now they are here. Some of you saw them last month, but all of you are glad to see them again.

Parents Day gives you a chance to introduce your Mom and Dad to your friends, professors, and new habits. (Such as the unmade bed, 3-week-old laundry and the empty beer can attempted to be hidden.) It also gives your parents a chance to squeeze your cheeks, check on your grades and make a last minute inspection of your ring around the collar. But no matter how formal it may seem at first, the day provides everyone with a feeling of love and pride, from seeing their family once again.

"Welcome Parents!!" met LR parents as they came on to campus September 27. The school plans a large agenda of things for parents and their children to do.

Shady Grove Band, a blue grass band, presented a bluegrass jamboree for the parents and students.

With mother and father, Steve Richter smiles proudly.

With the whole gang together, we have Pete Killam and his parents and Tim Ludwig with his parents. Tims father is Dr. David Ludwig, a psychology professor at LR.

Buying sweaters is Paige Thomas and her mother. Parents Weekend is a great time for students to get their shopping done, since they can often get a little extra financial support from Mom and Dad.

After eating, Chris Porter and his dad pose for the camera. Parents usually sample our LR cooking during this weekend.

UP WHERE WE BELONG

LEADERSHIP RETREAT

Tomorrow's leaders pause momentarily to savor the events of the past few days.

"You put your left foot in, you put your left foot out. You put your left foot in and you shake it all about. You do the hokey-pokey and you turn yourself around. THAT'S WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT! (Clap!) (Clap!)".

Well, that wasn't what all of it was about but it was a start.

What was IT? IT was the 1985 Annual Leadership Development Retreat at Blowing Rock Assembly Grounds. IT was a week-end retreat that included members from almost every campus organization, various members of the staff, some faculty members and anyone else who was interested in leadership. IT all started when a group of seventy-two members of the Lenoir-Rhyne community gathered in front of the Cromer Center on a cool Friday afternoon to take a trip "up the mountain." For many, IT was something mysterious and unknown. For those of us who were veterans of the 1st or 2nd Annual Retreat, IT was a continuation of what has become one of the best experiences of our college career.

What did we learn? We learned how to understand and handle various problems that arise in organizations. We learned how to listen and to communicate better. We learned how to get more in touch with ourselves and each other. We learned that first impressions aren't always right; that each of us is a unique and special person. In essence, we learned how to be better people as well as better leaders.

What did we do? We went on hikes, we sat in front of the fireplace, we rolled the staff members' cars with toilet tissue, we sang to the stars, we stayed up until 4:00 am writing Happy Grams to each other that said "I love you", we enjoyed the view, we made new friendships, and strengthened old.

We came away from the mountain determined to make the Lenoir-Rhyne community a better place to live, work, and love. For those of us who attended this retreat IT has become a BEAR NECESSITY!

It looks as though more than one cuckoo flew over this nest as students present their skits.

Surrounded by LR's finest, Nick, the leader for the weekend, enjoys his final hours.

Kicking up his heels (paws), Papa Bear loves returning to the mountains with his cubs.

Posing for the camera, Alma Mathewson and Collen Brennan use non-verbal communication to tell everyone how much they love the retreat.

Reflecting on the events of the retreat, best friends Kathy Barron and Nancy Semores spend an early morning at Arby's.

Jerry Shaw, Mike Riley, and Ed Lewis plot their next move as they take a few moments to sit back and reflect upon the retreat.

"Drop kick me Jesus" through the goal post of life, as demonstrated by President Trainer.

Paul Pruett tops the list of those who enjoyed the leadership retreat.

STUDENT JOBS

Punky Marlow, an employee of The Limited in Valley Hills Mall, works in the back preparing clothes for the sales racks.

Paige Stubbs and Kim Fincannon find K & K Toys a fun place to work. The toys are much different than when they were young.

Lori Leibold masters the art of making milkshakes. Her job involves the constant temptation of 33 delicious flavors of ice-cream.

For musician Porter Miller, the Record Bar is an ideal place of employment. His knowledge of music helps in selling the store's merchandise.

LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL

WEEKENDS AT LR

The dance floor is packed as the latest hit from Madonna blares from the speakers. It's like rush hour traffic. The journey to the bar is sufficient to work up a thirst. Everywhere groups of people are clustered, catching up on the latest social news. Sighs of relief are the general consensus as LR kicks back to have fun and enjoy the weekend.

Meanwhile . . . back on campus, several students are gathered into one room on the hall, preferring to spend a quieter evening with a few friends and a deck of cards. In any situation, evenings and weekends are a time for social life at LR.

These four smiling faces come from Tim Ludwig, Trish Peters, Connie Shoberg, and Shelley Abbe from the Theta Chi house.

From the TKE house comes Mark Smith and Troy Roane. The TKE fraternity usually holds its parties on Thursday night.

Looking on are Pi Kappa Phi brothers John Miller and John Williams at their boxer short party this fall.

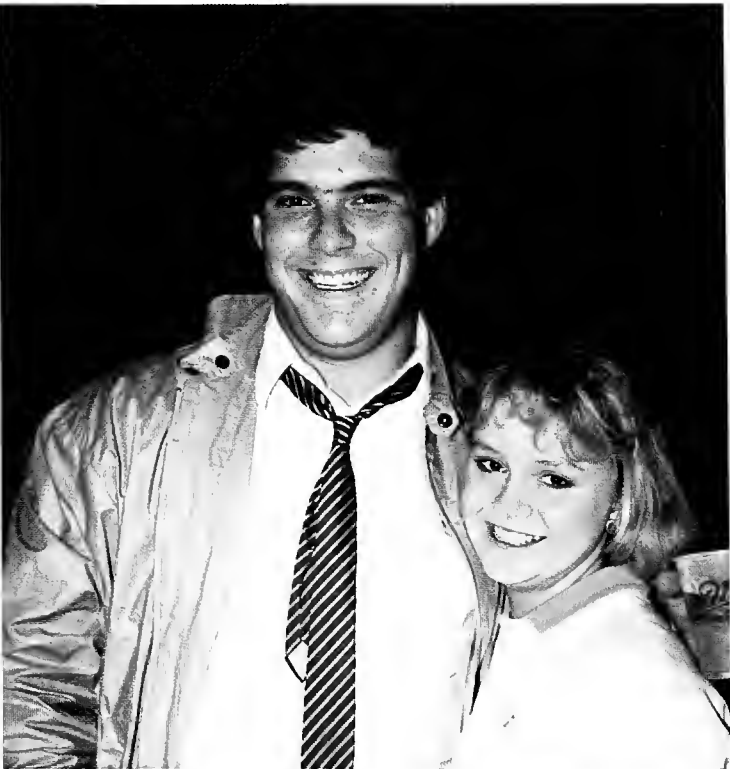

Wearing his OX shirt, is Adam Sucher and his friend Trish Peters.

Clustered together are members of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity enjoying a party.

With a hug and a smile, Bill Shufford and Jill Scroggs pose at the Pi Kappa Phi house.

These three ladies, Kim Rhyne, Michele Molitor, and Debbie Simms, sit around at the Theta Chi house for a homecoming celebration.

A smiling Paul Pruett hangs around the Theta Chi fraternity house at a party this past fall.

At the boxer short party are Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity brothers Brad Harter, and Kurt Kar-richer.

At this TKE gathering are brothers Gerald Gludden, Jose Palcio, and Bryan Riddle.

Standing together are Pi Kappa Phi fraternity brothers Kevin Barnhouse, Lynden Helton, Jerry Helms, Gary Burkart, and Mark Friday.

Doing some dancing at a TKE social are Mark Huggins and Mike Willis.

This unusual couple here is Roy Smith and Tim Workmeister. They were attending the Theta Chi halloween party this year.

Serving drinks at the Theta Chi house is Jeff Greer, and standing in the background is Kathy Price.

Modeling their boxer shorts are Sam Massey and John Miller. Those attending the party wore very creative boxer shorts.

Looking down we see Theta Chi's, their alumni and their dates enjoying the homecoming weekend.

DRAMA

Looking on, this young fellow is absorbed in the outdoor play Brothers Grim.

On stage, the proper etiquette of a king is described by actor, Rhett Mullinax, in the play. Mark Rose, another actor stands below listening in this play "Brothers Grim."

Applying makeup before act I is Cathy Stallings. The actors did most of their makeup in front of the audience as part of the show.

A successful pornography gallery owner, Mary, sits back during act 3 of the play Vanities. Mary was played by Beth Westbrook.

Building the props for the play 'Marat/Sade' are Troy Roane and other students.

Standing in white robes, the actors of the play 'Marat/Sade' practice. The play is set in an insane asylum in France.

Gossiping in their dorm rooms during Act II of Vanities is Beth Westbrook and Becky Brogden.

LIVING IN THE LIMELIGHT

DRAMA

Reading his part during play practice is Mark Rose, an actor in the play Marat/Sade held in November.

Teaching the princess Best Westbrook about goodness and respect is a king, pretending to be a beggar, played by John Schweig during the play "Brothers Grim."

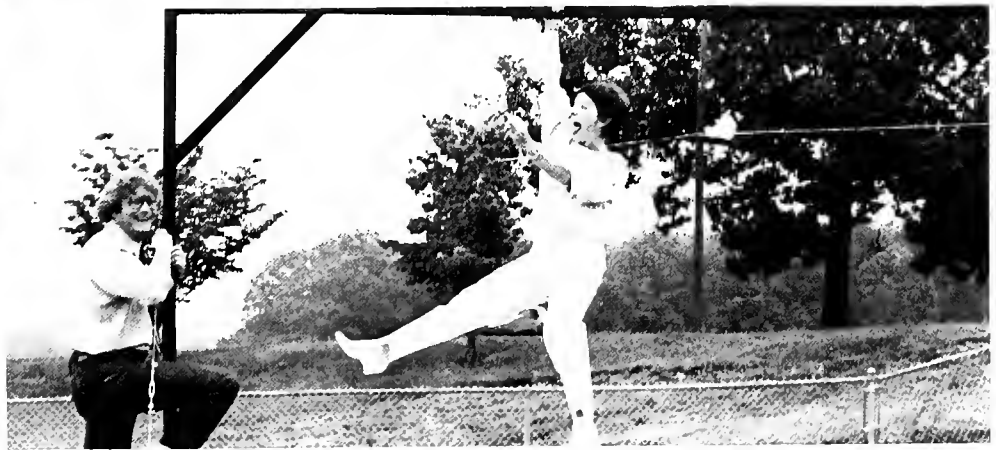

Cheeleading practice is really play practice here. Becky Brogden helps train her understudy, Shawn Davis, for the play Vanities. Becky was only able to perform part of her performances, as she was called to New York City to work on a soap opera pilot.

Practicing with makeup for the play Vanities are actors Beth Westbrook and Becky Brogden. Also helping are Barbara Best, costume designer, and Jane Johnson, publicity.

Dressing for work in Act II of "Vanities" are Beth Westbrook and Cathy Stallings playing the parts of Joanne and Cathy respectively.

Swinging on the base of the props for the play "Brothers Grim," is theatre/arts professor Dr. Marion Love. Looking on is Ray Mills, also a theatre/arts professor.

Lenoir-Rhyne was swept back to the days of King Arthur and Camelot with Homecoming '85 and the theme L-R Daze of Knights. The weekend began on Thursday evening with a Medieval Court presided over by Chief Justice Tim Ludwig and SGA President Tony Davenport. Numerous College officials were indicted and, at the urging of the students, either acquitted or convicted of imaginary crimes.

A bonfire and pep rally began the events of Friday night. A video dance followed as students danced to the top hits of the year.

A procession of knights, princesses, and musicians filed past the crowd as the annual Homecoming parade captured the spirit of the occasion. Various floats were entered with prizes given for the best entries. Theta Chi took the top honors this year. (continued p. 45)

On guard! A duel to the death follows the half-time activities as opposing forces fight for honor of the Queen.

HOMECOMING '85

Go Bears! L-R fans assemble together to cheer the Bears on to an 18-16 victory against the Liberty Flames.

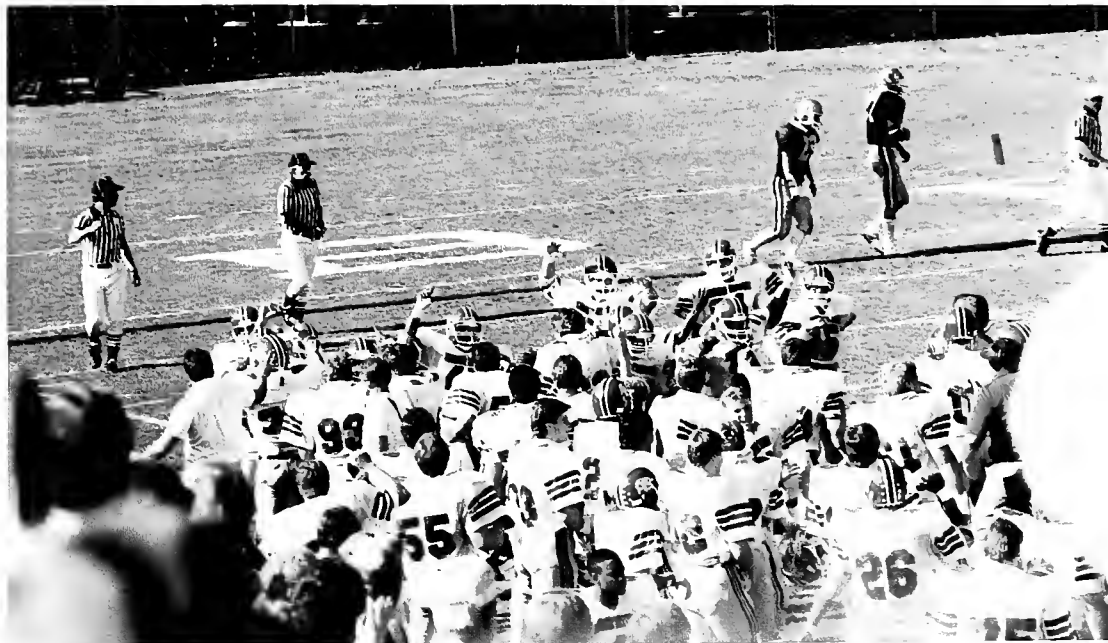

Mike Midgett pauses to give his reaction to the football game.

A moment of glory ... Cindy Roper smiles with the realization that she has just been crowned Homecoming Queen 1985.

A DAY OF GLORY

The Bears rejoice as a member of the team penetrates the Liberty defense to put points on the scoreboard.

Having eliminated the evil forces that threatened the new queen, the victorious knight proves that chivalry and gallantry still exist as he places himself at the Queen's disposal.

A KNIGHT OF VICTORY

Allison Ritchie salutes the crowd as she leads the Marching Band through another great performance.

The band promoted the Homecoming spirit as they marched onto the field proclaiming the victory to come.

A PROCESSION OF KNIGHTS

Which one will it be? The Homecoming Court waves as everyone wonders which one of them will be crowned Homecoming Queen.

L-R Marching Band marches forward, capturing the excitement of the day in music.

The Trainer family expresses a warm hello to everyone as President Trainer trades in his office desk for a convertible.

Lawrence of Arabia? No, it's the illustrious Jerry Shaw being escorted to the witness stand by Dave Keck.

Dan Ludwig raises his sword in defiance as Mark Smith, Adam Draper, and Chris Yeatts prepare to do battle.

A host of knights stand guard at the entrance to the castle, prepared to meet any challenge that might come their way. Theta Chi took first place with their entry in the parade.

"I hereby charge you with ..." Tony Davenport reads the charges as a bewildered Ed Lewis awaits sentencing by the medieval court.

L-R Marching Band shows off its talent to a crowd of people as it leads the royal procession.

Julie Cain displays a bit of chivalry as she escorts Shelly Abree safely from the reaches of the Kappa Delta dragon.

A DAZE OF ROYALTY

Cindy Roper is bestowed the title of Homecoming Queen 1985 during half-time.

With a congratulatory smile, Cyndi Chaney crowns Cindy Roper as the new queen.

Jill Scroggs represents Kappa Delta on the Homecoming Court as she is named first runner-up.

Paige Reynolds White receives a hug from Dean Ed Lewis and the honor of second runner-up.

Moments before crowning the 1985 Homecoming Queen, Cyndi Chaney, the reigning Queen, flashes a bright smile to the crowd.

Jill Scroggs is congratulated by President Trainer.

A colorful array dots the field as each member of the Homecoming Court proudly represents the organization who sponsored her.

Escorted by Don Jarboe, Kay Ledbetter steps forth from the crowd to represent Theta Xi fraternity.

Second place went to the Freshmen Class, and Pi Kappa Phi claimed third place.

The excitement mounted as kick off approached, and the Bears hosted the Liberty Flames. The game went down to the wire as the Bears beat the Flames 1816. Half-time activities were equally exciting as Cindy Roper was crowned Homecoming Queen 1985. Cindy represented Delta Zeta. Jill Scroggs, representing Kappa Delta, and Paige Reynolds White, representing Theta Chi, were named first and second runners-up.

Along with the Medieval theme, there lingered an element of controversy in the air. Some were opposed to the football game with Liberty University because of the school's ties with Jerry Falwell and the growing concern over the apartheid government in South Africa. Many chose to wear armbands during the game to show their support for the people of South Africa and their wish for an end to the unjust society that exists there.

Homecoming '85 has receded into the past and is now only a memory; yet, the Daze of Knights are still very real and vivid to those who were there.

With a smile, Debbie Beamer represents the A Cappella Choir as she watches the half-time activities.

THE BEAR FACTS

FORUMS/CONVOCACTIONS

During the fall semester of the academic year the issue of apartheid in South Africa became a major concern at Lenoir Rhyne.

Apartheid has been a national concern for many years, but L-R had a particular interest because of the Homecoming game against Liberty University.

The university was started by Jerry Falwell, an advocate of increased investment in South Africa. Falwell and others propose that investment will increase growth of the South African economy, providing more jobs and greater power for blacks.

Opposite Falwell's ideas are statistics showing it necessary for South Africa to maintain an economic growth rate of 67 percent to keep the unemployment rate from rising higher than the present 15 to 20 percent.

Aware of these facts, the Student Government Association began a study on the issue. Many forums, convocations, and debates were held to educate the L-R community.

One suggestion made during these debates was to boycott the Homecoming game. This idea was rejected. The faculty requested that the Board of Trustees consider divestiture of companies doing business in South Africa. This proposal was also rejected.

Action was taken, however, when the SGA passed a resolution recommending people to wear armbands at the Homecoming game to protest apartheid.

The concern did not fade after Homecoming, though. During Black Awareness Week, which is the week of Martin Luther King's birthday, an education committee on apartheid held a series of forums.

Although apartheid is not a new issue and has been present for decades, the L-R community expressed its views loudly during 1986.

During a forum in September, students look on as a panel discusses ideas on how we should handle the protest against the government of South Africa, in relation to a scheduled Homecoming football game against Liberty University. Liberty's founder made public comments favoring the government, which many students wanted to express disagreement with. Our school's reaction was picked up by both the Charlotte Observer and the Washington Post.

Expressing his ideas on how we should deal with South Africa as a student body, is Dr. Keith Ochs. Many forums and convocations this year dealt with the topic of South Africa.

Stripes and more stripes lined LR's student center's floor as these students helped cut out arm bands to protest Liberty University's stand on the South African Government.

On a panel of discussion dealing with the South Africa government are James Lichtenstein, Terry Pitts, Dr. Lowell Ashman, and Adam Draper.

BIG CITY NIGHTS

SOCIAL LIFE

Everyone needs an occasional break from homework, papers and projects.

The city of Hickory offers a variety of entertainment for those relaxation hours. Yesterdays is a popular night club among L-R's students. On Wednesday nights and college nights, the dance floor and drink specials attract students to the club.

For a quieter atmosphere, many people go to McGuire's Pub or Cheers. A new restaurant in town, Cheers also employs a few L-R students. If food, drinks, and music don't entice the L-R campus, then Valley Hills and Catawba Malls are other places to visit. An occasional matinee at Crown Cinema is pleasing to the college student's budget, as is a midnight movie at Carolina Theater. As common as study breaks are, it isn't hard to spot an L-R student retreating to a hot spot off-campus.

Partying at Yesterday's are Chris Cain, Lisa Huskins, Chris Yeatts, Vanessa Kelly, Joey Renner, Susie Finger, and Rob Lockridge.

On guitar is Porter Miller, a student at Lenoir Rhyne and also a member of the band Black. Listening are Pam Martin, Sharon Calender, Jenny Talbert, and Julie Everidge.

Raising their mugs, are Kathy Piercy, Tim Workmeister, and Audrey Duda in Europe. Many students find the best hot spots on their trips during spring, fall break and summer vacation.

Dancing at Yesterday's is Sharon Calender. Yesterday's attracts a lot of LR students who want to get away and have some fun.

Have you ever wondered exactly how this college is run? Well, if you have, here is the answer to all your questions. L-R, as we all know, is owned by the North Carolina Synod of the Lutheran Church of America. A Board of Trustees, elected annually at the Synod Convention, establishes the policies that govern the operation of the college. A lot of the work of the Board is carried out through committees, sub-committees and task forces that often have students, faculty, and administrators on them.

President Trainer is the chief college administrator and is responsible for the over-all administration of the affairs of the College. Below the President, we have three vice-presidents: V.P. of Administration and Finance, V.P. an Dean of Academic Affairs, and V.P. of Development.

Dean of Students Ed Lewis is responsible for the administration of Student Services. Admission to the College and academic matters are the responsibility of the Dean for Academic Affairs.

College committees, composed of students, faculty, and administrative members develop and recommend many of the policies that affect the operation of the College.

The faculty has the responsibility of approving procedures and policies relating to the instructional program. Non-voting student representatives participate in the Faculty Assembly.

Last, but not least, is the Student Government Association. SGA is composed of elected student representatives and is responsible for representing student concerns before all campus groups.

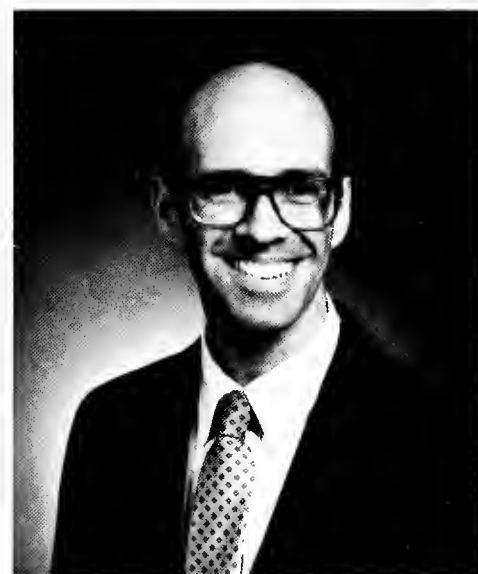

Now, if you decide that a rule needs to be made or thrown out the window, you can see the basic way to go about it, and who to contact. All these committees and subcommittees need people to help on them, so if you feel the urge, go for it, and help out the administration of Lenoir-Rhyne!

The junior class conducted many activities during the 1985-'86 school year. Plans for January were a Career Emphasis Week filled with seminars and workshops on career-related issues.

In the spring plans included several career placement workshops led by Margie Scott, director of career placement.

A big goal was set by the class to find a graduation speaker for the commencement in May of '87.

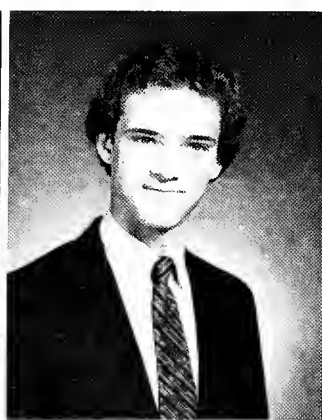

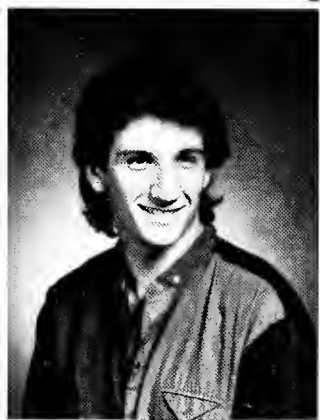

The junior class had a very successful and exciting year.

The class of '88 began its second year at Lenoir-Rhyne with high hopes of great accomplishments.

Our basic goals were to begin raising money for senior year activities, enhancing the community through various service projects, and sponsoring activities the sophomores would enjoy.

We started a souvenir stand at football games, and planned a "Miss Lenoir-Rhyne" for the spring.

We have made this year a memorable one. Working with career development, Student Government Association, and other organizations, we have been involved with L-R and the sophomore class.

Through all our activities, we have been setting the pace for a senior year to top all others.

The freshman class began the year by showing their school spirit.

Members stuffed the stadium fence with newspaper that spelled out "Class of '89 says Go Bears."

During the week of Homecoming, freshmen sold doughnuts and spirit ribbons. With the money they made, the freshmen constructed a float for the annual Homecoming parade. The float's theme was St. George and the Dragon, taken from an English fairytale. The hard work and dedication paid off when the class placed second.

Fundraisers also helped pay for a Valentine's Day Formal.

The class stayed busy trying to plan events to keep freshman involved during their first year of college.

AFTER RETURNING FROM A FOUR-DAY WORKSHOP AT UNC, CARLA CARTER AND I WERE VERY EXCITED ABOUT OUR PLANS FOR THE 1986 HACAWA. WE HAD DESIGNED A COVER AND DEVELOPED A THEME FOR THE YEARBOOK.

WITH THE START OF SCHOOL, HOWEVER, OUR WORK HAD ONLY BEGUN. THE YEAR WAS FILLED WITH MEETING DEADLINES, SCHEDULING PICTURES, RE-SCHEDULING PICTURES, AND COPING WITH LOTS OF HEADACHES.

HOWEVER, OUR TEAM SURVIVED, AND WE HAVE PRODUCED A BOOK THAT WE HOPE THE STUDENTS AND FACULTY WILL TREASURE.

The Lenoir-Rhynean is the school's student-run newspaper. It boasts "complete campus coverage" in its issues, which are published weekly during the academic year. The Lenoir-Rhynean encourages anyone who is interested in the business, advertising, typing, writing, layouts, editing, or proofreading of a newspaper to become involved. The paper covers news, calendars of school events, sports, theatre, arts, and many other items of student interest. The Lenoir-Rhynean is a paper for the students, by the student, and about the students.

Playmakers is the drama club and production arm of the Department of Arts and Theatre Arts. Anyone who works with the department to produce plays is a member of the organization. Playmakers serve in all facets of a production including acting, building sets, selling and collecting tickets, taking pictures, costuming, and waiting on tables. Any member of the Lenoir-Rhyne community can be a Playmaker. The Playmaker schedule for the 1985-86 season was a very busy one. Rehearsals for their first production, TALES FROM THE BROTHERS GRIMM, began in mid-August, and the Playmakers toured this production to Balls Creek Elementary School in Catawba and to the Lenoir Arts Festival. Their second Production of the season was VANITIES, with New York actress and L-R alumna, Becky Browder. In November, the Playmakers presented THE PERSECUTION AND ASSASSINATION OF JEAN PAUL MARAT AS TOLD BY THE INMATES OF THE ASYLUM OF CHARENTON UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE MARQUIS DE SADE, starring professional actor, Ron Aulgur. Playmakers also sponsored THE INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL, and in March they brought in star of stage and screen, William Windom, with his one-man production of THURBER. They also presented their annual dinner theater. Playmakers closed their 1985-86 season with UNIVERSITY, a production staged and directed by the Drama 302 Directing Class.

The North Carolina Student Legislature had its first meeting on Nov. 12, 1937, in the Capitol's House Chamber. It was the first student law-making body of its type in America. The NCSL serves two fundamental purposes. Through actual participation in a model General Assembly, it provides students with close-up and practical education in the political and legislative processes. Additionally, the NCSL affords students a statewide forum for expressing opinions and ideas on current issues to state and national leaders. At the end of the session, which meets in March, all bills that are passed by the NCSL are put into a compendium and sent to the General Assembly. The NCSL has about a 40% passage rate. A bill to provide for permanency planning for foster children (introduced by the Lenoir-Rhyne delegation) and the right-to-die law are two examples of North Carolina laws that originated in the NCSL. The organization was incorporated in 1974 as a non-profit tax exempted organization and now consists of 29 charter members across the state.

The Student Government Association is made up of elected officers, dorm presidents, class presidents, and representatives from Program Board, the commuter students, Hacawa, the Lenoir-Rhynean.

The SGA meets bi-monthly and welcomes any visitors to the meetings. Special committees are often established to investigate certain issues on campus. For example, this year the SGA gave much attention to the issue of apartheid, and it continued to research drug and alcohol policies and control.

Under the direction of Tim Ludwig, the SGA also has a student court which deals with disciplinary matters.

Tony Davenport served as the 1985-86 president and together with a hardworking and intelligent group of campus leaders, he helped make this academic year a successful one.

The Inter-Fraternity Senate is the governing body of the social fraternities on campus with its membership consisting of four representatives from each fraternity and the IFS President. It's major goal is to perpetuate understanding and good fellowship among the Lenoir-Rhyne fraternities. This consists of organizing the rush program and jurisdiction over any infractions of the IFS Constitution and By-laws. The inter-fraternity Senate tries to help out with at least one philanthropic activity each year, usually Special Olympics, and it holds a yearly campus clean-up.

TENNIS TEAM HAS NEW COACH

After changing coaches several times, the men's tennis team at L-R has found a man who wants to keep the coaching position. Jerry Shaw, a 1971 graduate of L-R, is the new tennis coach.

"I think the team will improve enormously with the stability of a coach," said Shaw.

The players and the coach were optimistic going into the fall season. Two returning players, Sonny Carter and Mark Friday, offered leadership for the group.

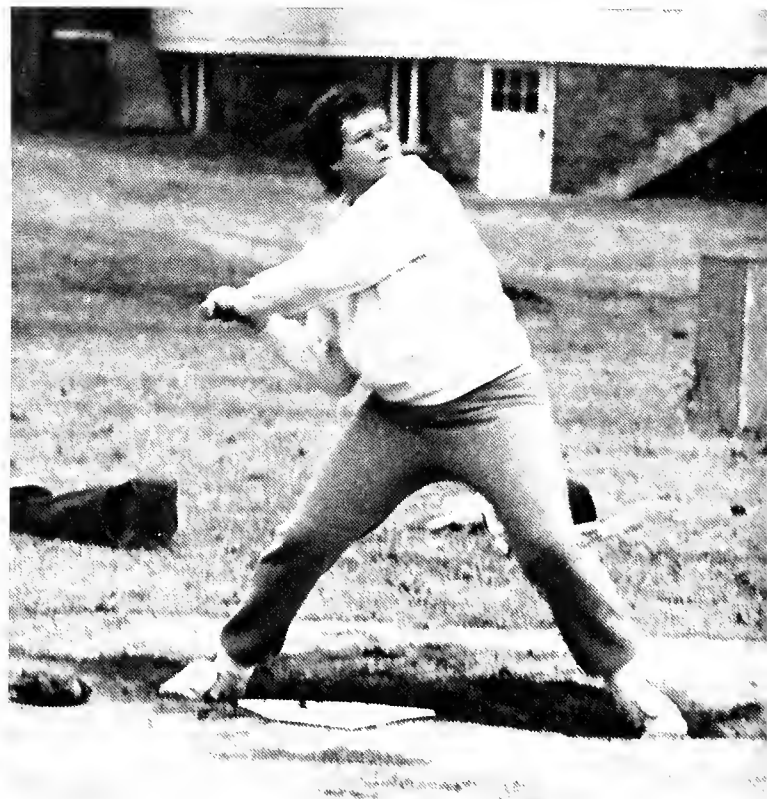

Prior to the fall season, Shaw said, "Although we're young, I think we'll be very competitive."

Up and over the arms of his defenders, the TKE quarterback passed for a touchdown.

The injuries show how seriously intramural football is taken.

Darren King uses his leg strength during a soccer game.

Audrey Duda fights her defender for the ball.

Joy Campanella and Jackie Brown struggle to see who will gain possession.

Bill Smick's concentration is completely on the ball, as his teammates look elsewhere.

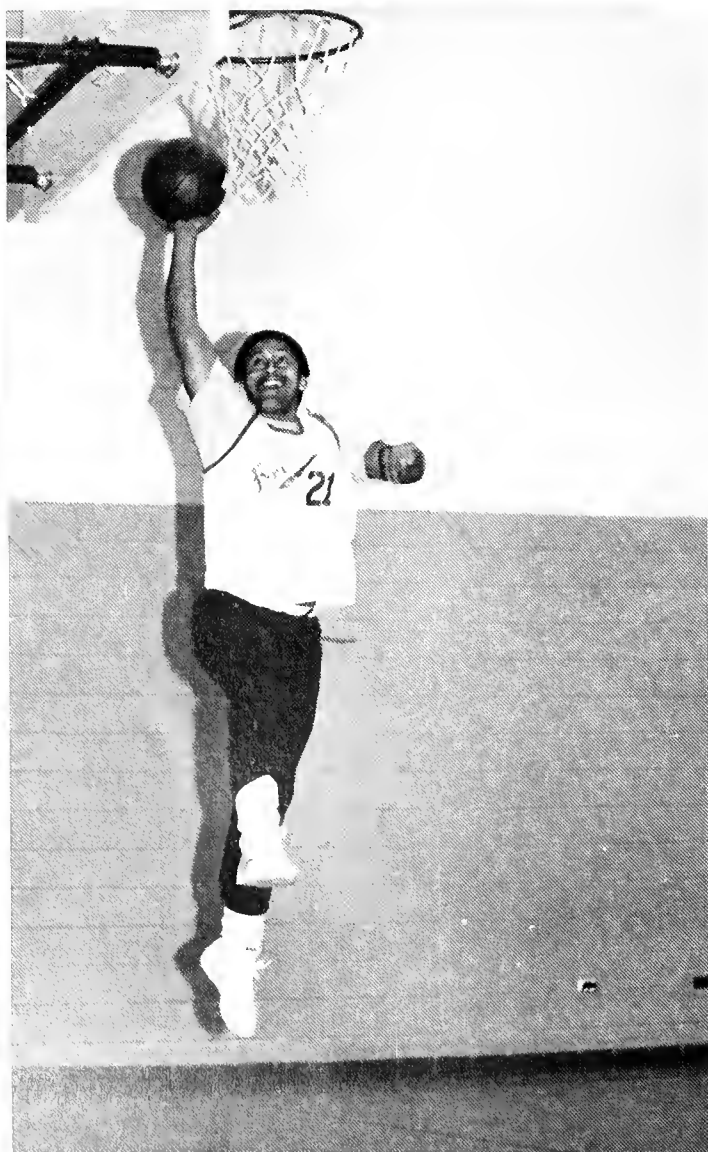

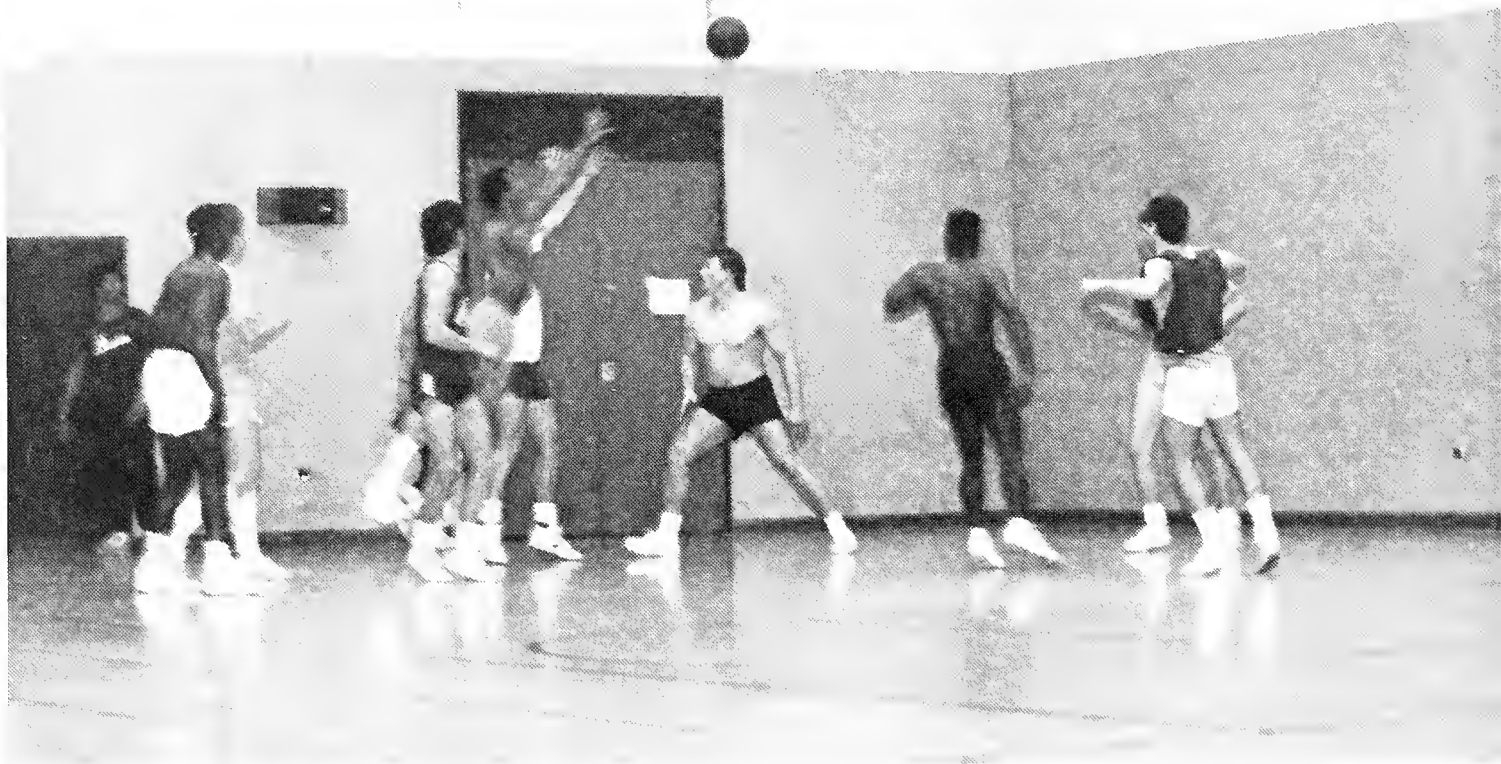

Joy Campanella watches as teammate Daphne Eudy gives it her best shot.

DEDICATION

Although he is a new member of the administration, Dean Edward L. Lewis is one of the most active. His contributions within the last five years far exceed what has been expected of him. He is an initiator of new ideas and an inspiration to students and fellow administrators.

Former acting president Alan Allran described Lewis as "a dynamic, people-oriented educator," and a people person he is, indeed.

"I've done a lot of different things," said Lewis, "but I have always enjoyed working with people more than anything else."

This native of High Point sets a good example in his day-to-day activities and through his past adventures. Lewis volunteered two years of his life to the Peace Corps, supervised an archaeological dig in Israel, and maintained a 4.0 GPA during his doctorate studies.

Always willing to listen, help, and work with the students of Lenoir-Rhyne, Dean Lewis has found a special place in our community and in our hearts.

The Senior Class proudly dedicates the 1986 HACAWA to Dr. Edward L. Lewis, Dean of Students.

LUIS A. CARABALLO, 1941-1985 AND HE SHALL BE CALLED BLESSED

It seems I had known Luis Caraballo for years. Actually, I knew him only two years. When I came to Lenoir-Rhyne in 1983, Luis had already transferred here from a college in New York City. Luis was a sociology major and a member of the A Cappella Choir. It was no time at all before I realized that he was a very special person.

He lived his life with humility and great spiritual strength. He never failed to show his concern for his fellow man. Even when Luis was ill, he continued to show his concern for others.

Though I was saddened by his death, I'm happy that he no longer has to suffer. Sometimes, when I see a yellow polo shirt, like the one Luis used to wear, or sing a particular song in choir, I feel a tug at my heart. I think of Luis often, AND HE SHALL ALWAYS BE CALLED BLESSED!

WE'VE GOT . . .

Letting his wheels cool. Thomas Jackson remains stationary for a few moments.

Someone's going to have plenty to drink! Laureen Tonnesen picks her favorite brand of soft drink.

Often there's nothing better than to be able to walk across a peaceful L-R campus alone.

Several people check out the Playmakers at their open house held this fall.

Like choreographed dancers, Monique Esposito and Amy Day stride across the football field during last year's spring fling.

A typical scene in front of the Cromer Center.

"Finger-licking good!" These little girls are picnicking before the children's theater begins.
The show was "Tales from the Brothers
Grimm", and was fun for young and old alike.

GOOD TIMES, MEMORIES, LASTING FRIENDSHIPS

Dave Will stops for a chat down at Price Village.

The Cromer Center seems to be a common meeting place. Here Olivia King and friends stop for a short chat.

If you can pass the ropes course during Prologue, you can do anything. Here some freshmen approach their next obstacle.

Books and paper in hand, Steve Rich, Mike Saunders, and friends head toward classes.

Just sit and watch the people — Joe Brennan shows his mom one of the favorite pass-times at L-R.

Up, up, and away! Judy Bowles flies through the air after being blanket-tossed at 1985's spring fling.

Comfortable, the only way to be! Paul Pruett dresses down on his way to his next stop.

Just one of those days. Trish Peters makes a face as the photographer snaps her picture.

That's the way you do it! Lois Stirewalt demonstrates the proper soccer movements to Clint Perkins.

We all know how long distance calls can wear you out. Kathy Weaver reclines in the door of her Schaeffer room.

What better way to enjoy your vacation than with some college buddies? Sandcovered Pete Parsons, Adam Draper, and Albert Mode mug for their picture.

A little peaceful contemplation never hurt anyone.

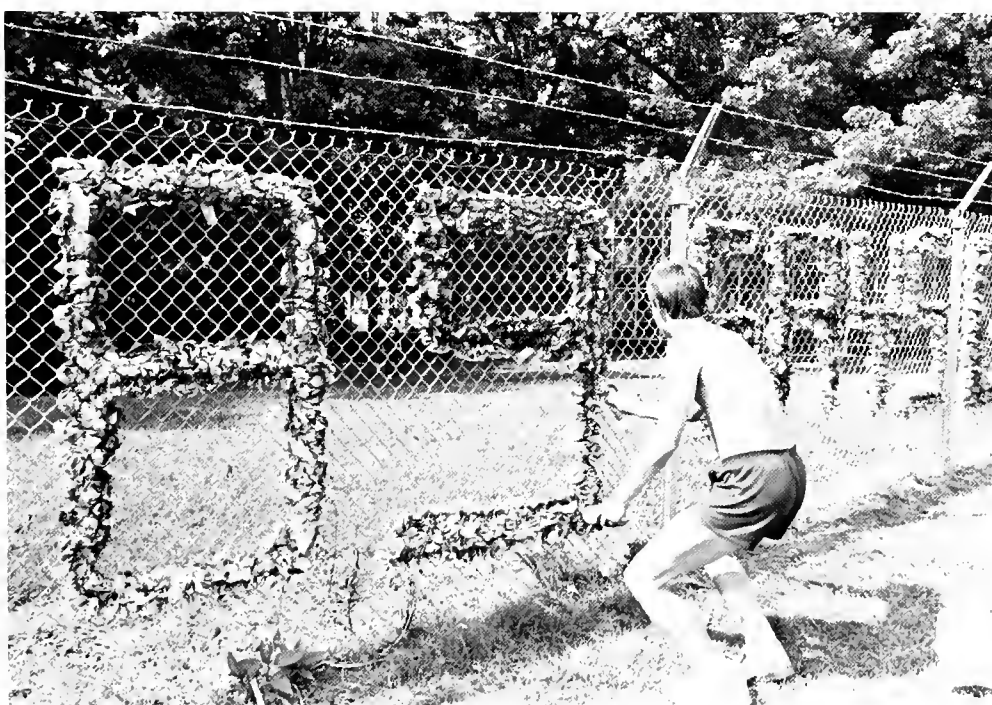

It's always nice to have friends! Sonya Honeycutt, Pete Parsons, and Dianne Diussa pose for their snapshot.

Renae Johnson and Crystal Morrison grace the steps of the Rhyne Building.

The cast of "Tales from the Brothers Grimm," Beth Westbrook, Rob Ogle, Cathy Stallings, Mark Rose, and Margaret Landrus, give their "fright-face" after their last show.

Bear spirit shines through. A freshman supports his class in one of their first projects — a sign made of spray-painted newspaper that said "CLASS OF 89 SAYS GO BEARS!"

Hey! You're supposed to grab their flag, not tackle! This intramural quarterback looks like she's about to be downed in one way or the other.

Just a little skeptical. Connie Fish seems to be listening intently to someone, although not entirely agreeing.

So who won the keg toss? Judy Bowles watches the events at Spring Fling '85.

In contrast to most L-R students, Dawn Easterling seems full of energy and spirit when walking between classes.

Isn't he cute? This little fella was enjoying the refreshments at "Tales from the Brothers Grimm" this fall.

Enjoying the sunshine and "bagging some rays." Julie Everidge, Pam Martin, and Wendy Isenhour seem to be only slightly amused at someone's antics.

Rivalry between greeks? Not here! Anne Helms and Lisa Gragg take time from crazy fall-bid day to make a memento of their friendship.

Taking it easy. Cheryl Janisko and Paul Conradt-Eberlin take time to sit back and relax.

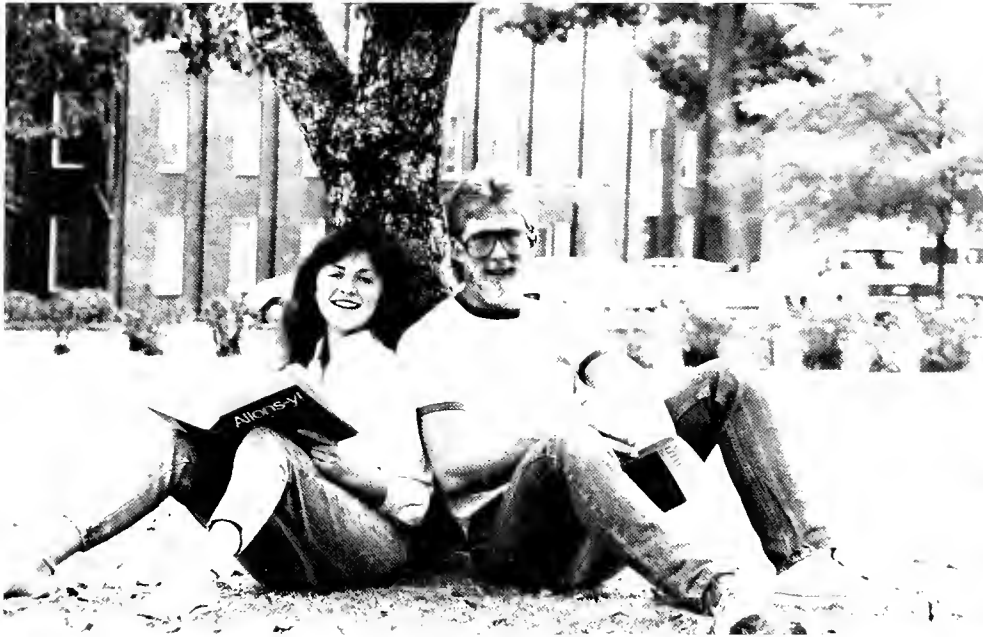

Tracy Baker sits in the football stadium lost in thought.

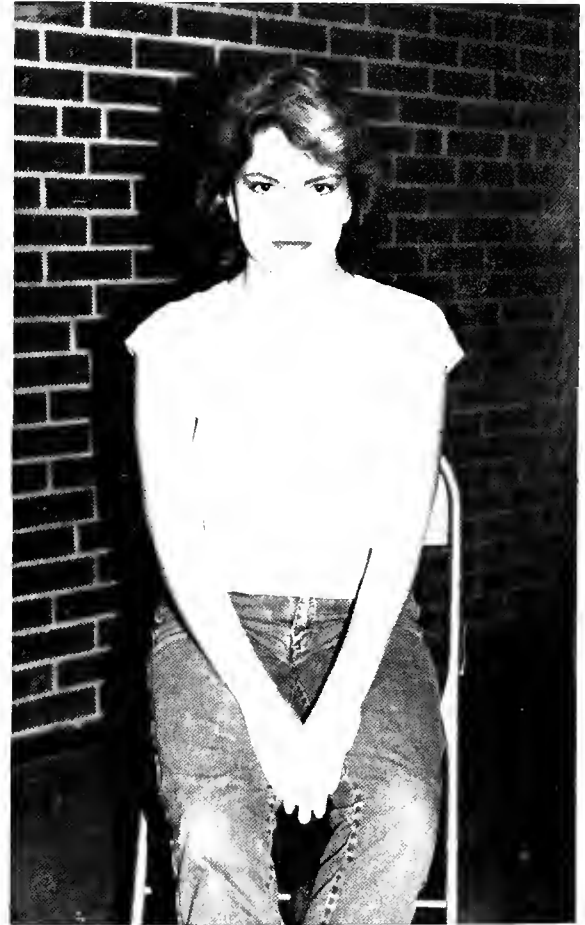

Video junkies still live. Playing video games is something we all like to do now and then.

L-R ... guaranteed to age you in one way or the other. For Jennifer Finger (shown below), it has given her massive wrinkles. For Dale Brill (at side), L-R seems to have put some hair on his face. Both Jennifer and Dale are the products of a theater makeup class offered here. Sherry Hartley is the lady sitting beside Dale.

This wonderful picture could have been sponsored by Pepsi. Karen Miller is the model.

This L-R Bear certainly seems happy! She must have found her mailbox full of letters, or found out that her phone bill wasn't as much as she thought it would be.

WE'VE GOT

ALL WE NEED

ALMA MATER

Fair star of Caroline, our college glorious,
Our college loved by all, to thee we sing.
May she forever shine, clear and bright, victorious,
To her our song of loyalty we bring.

Fling wide the red and black,
O sing aloud her praises!
This is the song we sing,
Lenoir-Rhyne to thee!

Fair star of Caroline, our Alma Mater,
Our college best of all in this broad land,
Thou best beloved of every son and every daughter,
Thy children hail thy name on every hand.

Fling wide the red and black
O sing aloud her praises!
This is the song we sing,
Lenoir-Rhyne to thee!
